

This project is about finding the link budget for optical networks, in which wavelength is assigned to source-destination pairs and routing is made with Routing and Wavelength Assignment (RWA), Where optimal cost for optical network with dedicated link protection and without dedicated link protection are calculated.